The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management. In fact, many times they do not.

BADGE OF SHAME

We are usually proud when we see Contra Costa denominated as a leader, but the record established in 1935 of having the greatest number of arrests of any county for reckless driving fails to induce any chest inflation.

From a standpoint of population we rank 19th but from the angle of having the greatest number of damn fools at the wheels of autos, we carry off the scarlet badge of shame.

POTENTIAL MURDERERS
A reckless driver is nothing short of a potential murderer. He is the type who disregards the rights of others on the streets and highways and doesn't care what damage he inflicts, just as long as he can play the smart alec role. Of the two classes of offenders, give me the drunken driver every time, for usually he does not wilfully infringe or trespass, and is not responsible for the damage; pain, suffering and death he inflicts.

THE REMEDY:
I do not know what is the remedy. The State Highway Patrol has been efficient in the discharge of its duties, as the report made public in these columns on Sunday morning last, amply proves. Suggestions of remedial measures per-

Pin Game Not Illegal, So Jury Finds

WALNUT CREEK, April 8.—Pin and ball games are not violations of the State's slot machine law, so a jury decided in the court of Justice of the Peace Clifford Thomas this afternoon.

The conclusion was reached after two hours of deliberation and following the presentation of testimony and evidence by both sides for the major portion of the day.

Strictly speaking Ward Schuyler, a local lunch room proprietor was charged with maintaining the device in his place, contrary to the statutes in such cases made and provided, but the jury considered no offense had been committed and brought in a verdict of not guilty, which in effect is a declaration that the game is one of skill and not gambling.

The case has aroused a great deal of interest throughout the county. The arrest was made by the sheriff's office so that a court test could be secured as to the legality of the machines. There have been numerous postponements, requested by the defense on account of the inability of the defendant's attorney, Wilbur Pierce of Oakland to be present. Last week a jury was secured and another adjournment taken until today.

The prosecution, represented by Deputy District Attorney Rex Boyer, put on a number of witnesses including Deputy Sheriffs A. E. Davies, and Ralph Harrison, Constable Russell Stowe and City Clerk Mildred Laird of Walnut Creek.

OAKLAND MAN KILLS SELF HERE

BOAT ANCHOR IS USED IN BAY SUICIDE

Apparently despondent because of poor health, Charles M. Fey, 60, of 1309 Fifty-fourth street, Oakland, committed suicide yesterday shortly after noon by tying himself to the anchor of a rowboat and plunging into the bay off Cozy Cove.

His body was recovered shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by a police posse headed by Police Chief L. E. Jones.

HIRED BOAT

According to an investigation made by local police, Fey appeared at a boat rental establishment about noon yesterday and hired a rowboat. He said he wanted to take a sun bath and asked that he be given two anchors. In addition to the regular anchor to the boat, he was given an iron grate weighing about 75 pounds to be used as a second anchor.

Fey then rowed to a spot about 20 yards from shore and cast one of the anchors overboard. The second—the iron grate—was attached to the bow of the boat. Fey then tied his hands with a length of rope, attached the rope to the grate and plunged overboard.

FOUND BY BOYS

Shortly after, two boys, Eugene Maffeo, 14, of 4445 Ohio avenue and Charles McMullen, 16, of 915 Florida avenue rowed by, returning

Many Object To Infliction Death Penalty

MARTINEZ, April 8.—With an order today for the summoning of 25 more veniremen the total thus far called in the murder case of Lewis S. Fallis Sutton, and Le Ray Bussey for the Antioch ark slaying of 36-year-old Allen Knight reached to 109.

A marked prejudice against the infliction of the death penalty has developed from the examination of those called. Women, particularly seem to be against the taking of life by the state, although several men have disclaimed themselves for the same reason.

Whether a jury can be secured out of the new venire of 25 is deemed doubtful as the defense still has 20 challenges left and the prosecution, today said referring to California press articles that reference to the group as the "Warren-Hoover-Requa" ticket was a misnomer which would lead to misunderstanding.

"I am quite sure neither former President Herbert Hoover nor National Committee Member Mark Requa had anything to do with the selection of the committee which picked the slate," Morse said in a letter to the editor of a California newspaper.

"I know very definitely they had nothing whatsoever to do with the deliberations of this committee because I attended every meeting," (Continued On Page 8)

The questioning is requiring considerably more time than usual because attorneys for Sly and Sutton interrogate the prospective jurors, then attorneys for Bussey ask questions, and the prosecution attorneys also question the jury candidates.

Police To Ask Extradition Of Mother Of Ann

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—UP.—Extradition papers for Mrs. Mary Cooper Hewitt McCarter, charged with conspiracy to commit mayhem in the sterilization of her daughter, Ann, will be presented Gov. Frank P. Merriam for his signature, police announced tonight.

Mrs. McCarter has been ill in a New Jersey hospital for weeks, reportedly near death from the effects of an over-dose of a sleeping powder and pneumonia which subsequently developed.

Assistant District Attorney August Fortner openly has charged that she was attempting to evade jurisdiction of California courts, and that her illness was not a bona fide ailment. He plans a trip east to attempt extradition of the one-time glittering social figure to San Francisco.

ETHIOPIANS TO BE ANNIHILATED

NEW YORK, April 8.—UP.—Police today smashed a vicious circle of crime which included respectable women—many of them married—to play poker for stiff stakes and then enter into prostitution to pay their losses.

Although the outlines of the system still were vague tonight, because of intense political pressure to keep the story quiet, it seems to have been an alliance of gamblers, loan sharks, white slaves and the proprietors of unscrupulous political clubs.

NAMES WITHHELD

All names have been withheld, but no one challenges the fact that one woman already has committed suicide because her husband learned she had become a prostitute.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine today said every time he ordered a raid on the "political clubs" the cases ran into a blank wall somewhere between the time the arrests were made and when the cases reached court. He ascribed that curious fact to political tinkering, and it was learned several district leaders called up several times.

No String On Warren Slate Of Delegates

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—UP.—Samuel P. B. Morse, Del Monte spokesman for the slate of unpledged delegates candidates for the Republican national nominating convention, today said referring to California press articles that reference to the group as the "Warren-Hoover-Requa" ticket was a misnomer which would lead to misunderstanding.

"I am quite sure neither former President Herbert Hoover nor National Committee Member Mark Requa had anything to do with the selection of the committee which picked the slate," Morse said in a letter to the editor of a California newspaper.

Johnston To Sit In Dog Track Trial

MARTINEZ, April 8.—Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston announced today that he will preside at the trial of seven employees of the El Cerrito Kennel Club, scheduled to go to trial here April 25 on charges of District Attorney Francis P. Healey that they violated the state's gambling law through the alleged conduct of a betting pool at the El Cerrito track.

When date of trial was set last week Judge Johnston said he might call in an outside judge but he declared today he will sit in the action.

Originally more than a score of employees of the track were charged but dismissal of charges was filed against all but seven.

43 Children Are Periled By Madman

PASO ROBLES, April 8.—UP.—A heroic bus driver brought 43 terrified school children through a wild three mile ride today when a madman, armed with two guns and knives, attempted to halt the bus.

Six of nine shots fired by the man, Merle L. Smith, struck the vehicle, but luckily missed its occupants. One bullet punctured a rear dual tire on the machine.

Price Hayes, the driver, finally succeeded in turning the bus into a school yard, where Smith was overpowered.

Smith, brandishing his guns and knives, threatened death to all who approached him, but finally was overpowered by Hayes, Superintendent of Schools C. C. Carpenter, and W. T. Brush, a school trustee.

The wild ride started when Smith sped from his small service station near here, driving a coupe. Pulling near the school bus, he opened fire.

Floods Add To Death Toll In Tornado Areas

By UNITED PRESS

Flood waters of rain-swollen rivers spread through the South Wednesday night increasing a seven-day disaster toll to 478. Federal funds gave impetus to reconstruction of tornado-wrecked cities.

From the Carolinas through Georgia and Tennessee, rivers were out of their banks, adding four deaths to the growing list of fatalities in the deep South and bringing a new menace to property.

Three lives were lost in Tennessee and one in North Carolina.

Rebuilding was speeded as the Federal government made available $2,500,000—$1,000,000 each to Georgia and Mississippi where damage and death was concentrated in Gainesville and Cupelo; $200,000 to South Carolina and $100,000 each to Alabama, Arkansas and Tennessee.

Drowning Man Seen By Crowd

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—UP.—Coast guardsmen tonight abandoned search for the body of an unidentified man who supposedly drowned off Seal Rock.

Two passersby reported they saw the man swimming about 100 yards from shore. They said he disappeared suddenly after calling for help and that they did not see him again.

The crew of two dories sent to the scene reported they had found no trace of the man.

Missing Richmond Man Returns Home

Reported missing since last Sunday, Lloyd Barnes, 26, Standard Oil employee, returned to his home at 2835 Florida avenue yesterday morning.

He did not say where he had been during his absence, police reported.

Solons Speed Tax Bill To Adjourn Early

WASHINGTON, April 8.—UP.—Congress set out today to hasten removal of the two main obstacles to early adjournment—relief and taxes—as 500 members of the Workers' Alliance staged a noisy but peaceful demonstration about the White House.

Leading the Administration's new revenue program as a "long delayed, much needed and helpful reform," the Democratic members of the House Ways and Means committee worked in executive session on the measure which is expected to yield $799,000,000 in additional taxes next year.

DEFENDS PROGRAM

In another part of the capitol, Administration Harry L. Hopkins appeared before a House appropriations sub-committee to defend President Roosevelt's request for an additional $1,500,000,000 to finance relief during the 1937 fiscal year. Hopkins testified in executive session and later declined comment, previous advice to Congressional leaders, however, indicated (Continued On Page 8)

Funds To Buy Park Available Middle Of May

MARTINEZ, April 8.—Announcement was made at Sacramento today by the State Park Finance Board that funds for the purchase of acreage at the top of Mt. Diablo will be available May 15 with the sale of $54,000 in state park bonds.

The board is to make $20,744 available for the purchase of 303 acres, comprising Unit 4A at the peak, one of two remaining tracts to be acquired to complete the purchasing program outlined originally.

The balance of the bond issue to be sold will be devoted to the acquisition of park lands near Castle Crags, Shasta county.

Governor Frank Merriam recently pledged Senator Will R. Sharkey and Assemblyman T. H. DeLap that the State would make $30,000 available for the acquisition of the two remaining tracts on the mountain to complete the park if $10,000 is secured from other sources.

Recently, there has been considerable agitation to bring about completion of purchase of park tracts. An option of purchase expires on April 15, but the park commission this week advised the board of supervisors an extension can be secured.

Two Are Held For Theft Investigation

Joseph Carl Riggs, 34, and Joseph Senter, 35, both of Oakland were held to answer to the Superior court when they appeared before Justice of the Peace Lyle Grover yesterday morning. Bail was set at $2000 each.

The two men were arrested and booked at the county jail for investigation in connection with a series of poultry thefts in San Pablo and neighboring communities.

Debt Saving To Farmers Reported

OAKLAND, April 8.—UP.—California farmers saved $2,612,000 in interest annually by refinancing debts with the Farm Credit Administration since its organization, in 1933, President Charles Parker of the Federal Land Bank here said today.

Parker based his statement upon an analysis of loans by the bank under his jurisdiction.

VICTORY IS PREDICTED BY IL DUCE

ROME, April 8.—UP.—Ethiopia's armies must and will be annihilated in order to safeguard the security of Italy's African colonies, Premier Benito Mussolini told his cabinet today.

While Il Duce promised early victory in East Africa he assured his ministers that development of Italy's metropolitan land, sea and air forces will continue with "ever increasing rhythm."

SUDDEN MEET

The cabinet meeting was called suddenly following important developments at Geneva where the League of Nations committee of 19 is sitting to consider Italian-Ethiopian hostilities.

"Annihilation of the Ethiopian armies cannot fail nor will it be delayed," Mussolini said.

IMPORTANT VICTORY

He stressed the importance of Italian victories against Emperor Haile Selassie's Imperial Body-guard in the Lake Ashangi region.

"The victory is all the more important since the Emperor's guards were trained, equipped and armed by Europeans," Il Duce said. "The morale of our soldiers in East Africa is splendid."

According to police reports, Johnson was riding his machine on Castro street near the Standard Oil plant when the front wheel of the cycle struck an obstruction and the shock tossed him into the street.

A passing motorist brought the injured man to the Richmond Cottage Hospital.

OAKLAND OAKS
LOSE 7-5 IN
15TH INNING

By UNITED PRESS

Portland won the first "endurance contest" of the 1936 Coast League season Wednesday, trouncing the Oakland Oaks 7-5 in a 15-inning contest.

It was a free hitting engagement with the Beavers rapping out 19 hits off Olds and Douglas, while Billy Meyers' boys got 12 off Caster and Lester. Neither side could muster batting strength when it would have meant an earlier end to the game, however, and doubles and triples went begging in the closing innings.

Oakland tied it up in the last half of the ninth. Bolyard singled and Hartje took first on Dixie Howell's error. Douglas singled, advancing his teammates and the latter pair came home on Glynn's double.

Willie Kamm's Missions turned the tables on Los Angeles after taking a 12 to 4 drubbing Tuesday night and won 5 to 2 behind Otto Nicholas' eight-hit hurling. Three runs in the last half of the eighth enabled the Reds to put the game away.

Seattle made it seven straight wins at Sacramento, winning 9 to 3 over the sliding Senators. The Indians routed Johnny Chambers, and piled up 18 hits in all off him.

At San Diego the Seals rallied in their half of the ninth to push over two runs and win 5 to 2.

The line scores:

R. H. E.
Portland 7 19 1
Oakland 5 12 2
Caster, Lester and Cronin; Olds, Douglas and Hartje.

R. H. E.
Seattle 9 18 1
Sacramento 3 7 6

R. H. E.
Los Angeles 2 8 9

BUS LINE TO
GATE BRIDGE
STARTS ROWS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—UP—Bus line and approach problems remained uninvolved tonight following a meeting of Golden Gate bridge directors seeking an answer to the twin questions.

George Gerbard, spokesman for the Civic League of Improvement Clubs of San Francisco, and William D. Conghlin, Associated General Contractors' representative, lodged serious protests before the board against handling of approach construction.

"Not a single street improvement is under way to date for the Golden Gate bridge," Gerbard charged. "The city ought to get on with it when the bridge is finished next March."

Gerbard insisted that $15,000,000 in gasoline tax funds was available for immediate start of work on approaches.

Debate on the bus line issue heatedly, the directors deferred action on this subject until next week, first instructing the span traffic committee to inquire of all motor companies whether they would supply buses on a five-year lease, or any other revenue basis for public operation on the bridge.

Harry Speer, manager of Bridge Bus Lines, seeking a permit to operate on the span, reported that immediate action was advisable. He said that plans were being made to provide new homes for 100,000 persons in Marin county following completion of the bridge. Wallace Cathie, secretary of the Sausalito Land and Ferry Co., reported a $15,000,000 project to build 2500 new homes for commuters on 500 acres of land directly above and around Sausalito.

Direct A. R. O'Brien of Ukiah asserted that the Ford Motor Co. had assured the district it could provide 60 buses of public operation within 60 to 90 days.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—UP—Red Cross officials here announced today they had received contributions for eastern flood relief on the Pacific Coast totaling $102,233. The ultimate goal, they said, is $12,000. Mrs. Margarette Grimmer, San Francisco Red Cross worker, has been called to Johnston, Pa., to aid in directing relief work, it was announced.

BLAME FOR AIR
LINER CRASH IS STILL UNFIXED

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 8.—UP—Blame for the crash of a crack TWA airliner, the Sun Racer, still could not be fixed tonight despite a four-fold investigation.

Three of the 11 persons aboard remained alive, but two of the survivors—Mrs. Meyer Ellenstein and Charles C. Chaffin—lay in Uniontown Hospital with critical injuries and were so near death they could not be questioned.

The third, Hostess Nellie Granger of the ill-fated plane, also was in the hospital but she suffered only from shock, bruises and exhaustion. She gave a hazy account of the awful moment of impact against a mountainside shortly before noon yesterday; of the few minutes preceding what she supposed was a landing at the Pittsburgh airport, and of her frantic, stumbling race down the mountain to bring aid.

Both pilots, who might have thrown some light on the cause of the disaster, were killed.

TWA officials, on the basis of first circumstantial evidence, said a "faulty radio beam" misled the pilots, flying "blind" in fog and intermittent snow. Commerce Department officials denied that, and said other planes followed the beam safely to Pittsburgh, 40 miles to the north.

The Commerce Department had eight men on the scene. The airline had high officials and investigators there. The United States Senate air safety committee and the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Bureau also were represented by investigators.

They examined the twisted metal wreckage and the smashed instruments, with faint chance of learning anything. They later will obtain formal statements from survivors and witnesses.

Public hearings will begin here tomorrow.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—UP—Motion picture making still intrigues non-professional residents of cinema city.

Studio visitors and would-be visitors whose homes are in Hollywood than out-number the tourists seeking admission to watch the making of a picture.

At work.

Demand became so great that executives were forced to erect the "No Admittance" sign at entrance gates and issue orders for rigid enforcement of the rules.

They waited until the production companies went on location to film scenes that could not be made on studio stages and then returned.

Recently a company working on a picture made plans with a Los Angeles suburb called a Susanna to make several scenes.

When the equipment trucks and men left the studio those in the neighborhood were confident that they would not be annoyed by a curious crowd.

Less than an hour after work started, the main street of the suburb had the appearance of a ball stadium highway on a busy afternoon.

Throngs of people surrounded the studio and almost wholly obscured the atmosphere of the picture.

In desperation, the director called for police to move the star-

MUSICAL HIT COMES TO THE FOX ON FRIDAY

"The Music Goes Round" long heralded musical extravaganza that features Harry Richman, Rochelle Hudson, Edward Parley and Michael Riley, the "round and round" boys; Walter Connolly and Douglas Dumbrille is the feature scheduled to open on a double program at the Fox tomorrow.

"The Great Impersonation," exciting drama starring Edmund Lowe and written by E. Phillips Oppenheim, is the added feature. It is said to strip the glamour from international spies.

The story of "Music Goes Round" has to do with an old fashioned showboat troupe that swoops down on Broadway to appear in a lavish musical spectacle.

Seven new songs, besides the already famous "The Music Goes Round and Round" are heard in the picture.

Victor Schertzinger, who directed Grace Moore's last two successes, directed "The Music Goes Round." Attaching to it shows how lacking in human emotions are the spies serving munitions manufacturers having establishments in many countries at the same time. While bringing out a combatant's secret to an enemy, they burn steal the latter's plans and sell them to the original employer.

Valerie Hobson and Vera Engels are seen in the leading feminine roles.

Five Named On Blind Home Board

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—UP—Appointment of five new members of the board of directors of the Industrial Home for the Adult Blind was announced today by Governor Frank F. Merriam.

The new appointees are:

Ernest S. Leslie, Berkeley, succeeding B. DeLucis; Dr. Carl F. Schmidt, Oakland, succeeding Dr. W. E. Mitchell; Mrs. Luther M. Williamson, Berkeley, succeeding Ben Morris; Dr. Luella Stone Swager, Oakland, succeeding Walter P. Woolsey and Judge Harry W. Pulcifer, Oakland.

Training Ship Docks In South

SAN DIEGO, April 8.—UP—The national training ship California, State, which attracted wide attention several weeks ago when one cadet died from spinal meningitis, docked here tonight.

One cadet was reported ill and visitors at first were not permitted aboard, but after a short time restrictions were removed and relatives and friends of local cadets were admitted.

Sons would not restrain themselves. Several "takes" were ruined by autograph seekers, who rushed onto the sets demanding that Dix and the other players sign their books.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, April 8.—All Pan-America recognizes that there are two great prima donnas of peace in the Western Hemisphere. One is Cordell Hull, Secretary of State of the United States, the other Saverio Lamas, Secretary of State of Argentina.

Both desire to lead the Western Hemisphere toward permanent peace at the coming Pan-American Conference. Simultaneously, both have other conferences important to their political and personal future.

In Geneva, Saverio Lamas desires to attend the League Assembly in early September, has been promised the exalted position of League President.

In Philadelphia, Cordell Hull has been drafted by Roosevelt to put important Party principles before the Democratic Convention in June, keep in line conservative Southern Democrats.

In order that he may get away to Geneva, Saverio Lamas wants to hold the Pan-American Conference early. But in order that he may remain in Philadelphia, Cordell Hull wants to hold the Pan-American Conference late. Result thus been a police tug-of-war between the prima donnas of peace.

BRITISH BOAT

So far, a provisional date has been set for July 15 in Buenos Aires. Mr. Hull thinks that by June 27 he can finish holding the Democratic Party together in Philadelphia and set sail.

Only trouble is that the ship sailing on June 27 flies the British flag. An American ship sails on July 1, but this is too late to get to Buenos Aires.

So Mr. Hull is in a predicament. He can ask Comptroller General McCarl for a special ruling permitting him to use a British ship, but McCarl is likely to reply that the Democratic National Convention is not government business and no excuse for Mr. Hull's dilly-dallying in the U. S. A.

So it looks as if Mr. Hull has three choices:

1. Dig down in his jeans and pay his own passage on an English boat.

2. Force the duty of holding the Democratic Party together at Philadelphia.

3. Persuade Saverio Lamas to forego the honor of being president of the League Assembly, thus hold the Pan-American Conference at a later date.

Several weeks of secret cabling to Buenos Aires so far have failed to break the boundary.

NO-HERO TO HULK

President Roosevelt has just had proof of the old adage, that no man is a hero to his valet. Only in this case, the valet is a woman, in fact a "goodby."

"Goodies" are a classic stratagem of humanity about one notch above a charwoman, who make up the beds of Harvard students.

Their sobriquet is officially recognized by the university, and they have been immortalized both in fact and in fiction by a strike they staged against the university for higher wages, and by a book written by Travis Tuckman (who, incidentally, is a Yale man) about a goody who for several years has been making the bed of her long-lost son.

Anyway, a former goody who took care of the room used by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Senator, who at Harvard, is violently anti-New Deal.

And as her little contribution to the Republican cause she has been spreading the word that the President, because of his capricious, superficial nature while a student, was nicknamed by all the goodies, "Feather-Duster."

Extradition Of Star Denied By Gov. F. Merriam

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—UP—Extradition of Duncan Renaldo, former motion picture star, to New York to face a charge of failure to provide for a 10 year old son was denied today by Governor Frank F. Merriam.

Attorneys for Renaldo pointed out at an extradition hearing that he had been in legal difficulties since 1931. Only recently he completed a sentence in McNeil's Island Federal penitentiary for illegal entry to this country.

His counsel maintained that it would have been impossible for him to pay $50 monthly for support of his son as ordered by New York courts and as demanded by his wife, Suzette Renaldo.

Love Shy By Nelly Graf

Marianne Minner, small-town girl, embittered when her high-school sweetheart deserts her for a girl who is well-to-do and socially prominent, becomes convinced that love is cruel, and money everything. She gets a job in New York with a real-estate firm, and advances rapidly. Leonard Bailey, who works in the same office and writes on the side, is in love with her, but he is poor, and money is now her object in life. When the rich Harv Deslie asks her to marry him, she accepts, but cannot get Leonard out of her mind. Harv expects her to give up her job and her ambition, but she leaves her job, she attends a Sunday outing which her boss sponsors to promote a group of orphans there. When one little boy, Dickie, eats some rat poison, Leonard, with Jill Jackson, Marianne's secretary, is taken to the hospital in Harv Deslie's car, despite Harv's protests.

CHAPTER XXIX

MARIANNE had just helped the last child onto the bus when Harv reappeared. "I've called a taxi," he said sullenly. "Don't suppose Bailey would think about returning my car."

When the taxi arrived, he gave her Marianne's address. "But I'm not going home," Marianne's voice was determined. "I'm going to the hospital to see about Dickie."

"You are not," Harv gritted. "It's bad enough to have Bailey steal my car."

"But Harv," Marianne interrupted, "there was no time to lose. We were afraid Dickie had got some of the rat poison we."

"What is it to you?" Harv interposed coolly. "Don't be a fool, Marianne."

Marianne's tone was clear and unwavering as she answered him. "I'm not being a fool any longer, Harv. But I have been—quite the biggest fool that ever lived!"

SHE LEANED forward and gave the driver the address to the hospital. Then she calmly drew off her engagement ring and placed it in Harv's hand.

"Marianne! You're not—what are you doing?"

Marianne's laugh was bitter. "It's like a movie, Harv. The story of a girl who was allowed to snub and hurt and broken dreams to distort her outlook. A silly girl who wanted money and power and prestige and throw away love and beauty and happiness."

"I don't understand, Marianne. I'm sorry if I acted like a brute."

Marianne shrugged. "You can't help being what you are. I suppose. But, anyway, I'm going to marry you. I see now that I can't."

"You can't back out now!" Harv blustered.

"Oh, yes, I can," Marianne answered simply.

They had reached the hospital. "Goodbye, Harv. Let's part as friends," she held out her hand. For a moment, Harv ignored it. Then, he took it in both of his, and said gruffly:

"You'll change your mind to—"

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, April 8.—The heroes of Hollywood keep looking coyly at Broadway. Katharine Hepburn, according to the latest gossip, will next come to Manhattan as Peter Pan in the immortal Barrie play. Only Eva Le Gallienne and Marilyn Miller of the present generation of actresses have ever attempted the part.

Marlene Dietrich is planning to act here, too. As for George Jessel, he will have a special comedy written for him by that expert satirist, George S. Kaufman. . . . Ed Wynn's shoes cost $2,005 and are 29 years old. Ed bought them for $5 in 1907, and has worn them in every radio, stage and screen appearance since. He has spent about $2,000 to keep them repaired. They're size 16, and apparently they're lucky. . . . In a "Follies" girl. . . . Ken Woods, radio maestro, was born Leon Raderman in the Bowery section of New York. And the real name of Vernon Duke, musical comedy composer, is Dukakis, under which moniker he writes weird pieces in the modernist vein.

REVISIONIST—These are days when the laboring classes are coming into their own. A slick, mean-faced chap dropped into a show shine parlor off Broadway the other day, apparently in a great hurry. He nagged at the bootblack, and finally yelled to the manager that the shine was a disgrace.

The bootblack, bitter, surveyed him steadily, then retorted in icy tones:

"The only polish you have is on your shoes—and I gave you that."

SANTA FE HEAD IS QUESTIONED ON STAGE PLANS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—UP—Lengthy cross-examination of Lloyd Neal, Santa Fe traffic manager, occupied today's session of the State Railroad Commission's hearing on the company's application for interstate bus privileges.

Neal, in his two day's testimony, has sought to show that his company's proposal to establish interlocking bus and train service between Los Angeles and in the San Joaquin valley would be "beneficial to the people."

Battling the Santa Fe's application are the Southern Pacific company and the Pacific Greyhound company, who claim the applicant is attempting to "intrude" into territories already served adequately by their lines.

R. W. Weddick, attorney for the Pacific Electric and the Pacific Motor Transport of Los Angeles, has sought questioning of Neal, following along the same type of examination as attorneys for the other contesting companies had pursued previously.

Officers Elected At Church Meeting

Six new deacons were elected at the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church held at the church parlors.

New deacons are William Patterson, Mrs. J. P. McElroy, Mrs. D. G. McGrew, Mrs. Ruby Johnson, Mrs. H. W. Lancaster and Mrs. Roderick McLennan.

Five new members of the church session were named. They are: George Lawrence, Dr. Meredith Morgan, Cecil Bowman, Lee Goldworthy and Dr. L. R. Sears.

NOW AVAILABLE THROUGH MANY DEALERS

For Financing the Purchase of Refrigerators,
Stoves, Washing and Ironing Machines and Other Equipment

MOVABLE equipment can no longer be financed under the provisions of the National Housing Act, but home owners and tenants can still enjoy the convenience of purchasing refrigerators, stoves, washing and ironing machines, etc., on a sound and economical monthly payment basis.

This is made possible by American Trust Company's monthly payment plan available through many dealers in household equipment. Ask your dealer about it, or you may call at our nearest office for details.

Modernization Loans

Government-sponsored, monthly payment loans are still available from this bank, under the provisions of the National Housing Act, for the installation of heating, roofing, painting, plumbing, wiring, additions and alterations, and for furnaces, oil burners, stokers and water heaters.

You may arrange for them through contractors and dealers or direct with this bank.

Long-Term, Single Mortgage Home Loans

Made under the sponsorship of the Federal Housing Administration. One uniform monthly payment (probably no larger than you now remit as rent) will do all this: (1) Pay the due principal and interest on your loan; (2) pay your taxes; (3) pay your insurance; (4) provide you at the end of the loan term with a home free of all debt.

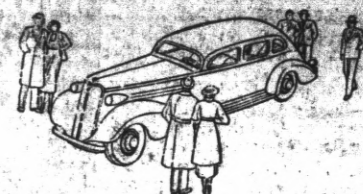

Loans up to 80% of the appraised value—terms as long as 20 years. These exceptionally generous loans are made possible because their payment is guaranteed by Government-Sponsored Mortgage Insurance.

They do away with the necessity of costly second-mortgage financing. They provide a sound, sensible, economical and worry-free way of financing home ownership.

The Most Important "Monthly Payment" of All

The most important "Monthly Payment" you can make is a regular monthly addition to a savings account. It buys a sense of security that nothing else can provide. In budgeting your income make Item 1 your savings deposit. This bank welcomes savings accounts.

Automobile Loans

Modified insurance provisions, as well as the lowest prevailing rates, make our automobile loans doubly attractive. Only fire, theft, and the usual collision insurance is required. This may be purchased from any acceptable company through the agent or broker of the borrower's choice. The cost of insurance may be included in the loan. Your insurance agent or broker will be glad to handle, for you, the details of arranging the loan with this bank.

Personal Loans

Sometimes the ability to meet a personal or family crisis, or to take advantage of an important opportunity, depends upon a relatively small amount of ready cash. Our personal loan service is designed to meet just such situations. These loans are repaid by small payments spread over a year. The cost is not only notably low for this type of service, but includes, without extra charge, special life insurance covering the unpaid balance.

to call at our nearest office for details.

Sprains Happen in Various Degrees, But They Can Be Really Serious

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

THE time of year is here when the elements conducive to the production of sprains are at their worst. Snow, sleet, ice, rain and mud. Skating, coasting, basketball, the handling of coal and ashes, cleaning sidewalks all offer opportunities for the occurrence of sprains. A sprain is usually described as a sudden stretching or tearing of the tissues immediately surrounding a joint, without particular injury to the bones or the joint itself. If this stretching and tearing is confined to the muscles alone, as in the back or calf of the leg it is referred to as a strain. But if the conditions are such that the ligaments are torn, the injury is a sprain.

Injury to the tissues surrounding a joint may be more painful and a cause of greater incapacity. A sprain is caused when there is sudden violent twisting or bending of a joint while the muscles are relaxed or tired out. This may be slight, causing sharp pain and some tearing of the tissues, or so great that the ligaments, tendon and muscles surrounding the joint are wrenched apart.

Sometimes a ligament or tendon is so strong that a silver or plate of bone is torn off or the joint cartilage ruptured. The injury may be so great there is temporary dislocation of the joint, but if the bones slip back into their normal position at once, it is still referred to as a sprain.

May Be Fractures

It is a common saying that a bad sprain is worse than a fracture of the bone. The facts are that many so-called sprains are fractures, particularly at the ankle, wrist, elbow and shoulder. If much dislocation has been produced, splinters of bone are often detached or the bone broken about the joint.

Immediately after a sprain there is sharp pain in the joint. If it occurs at the ankle or knee the patient is likely to fall to the ground and may frequently suffer from a sick stomach or faint. The relaxation due to fainting may allow a dislocated bone to slip back into normal position.

Swelling occurs almost at once and in a few minutes the distortion due to swelling may give the impression of a dislocation or a fracture. In a very short time the swelling subsides and the patient is able to move the joint. Even if the swelling is not too great, the patient cannot use the joint without serious pain.

Examination shows that the joint can be moved, but is frequently so painful, particularly over the front or rear in the ligaments, that a satisfactory examination cannot be made, unless under an anesthetic. In case of doubt, it is better to treat the case as a fracture till an X-ray can be taken or the swelling subsides. In most cases, however, the diagnosis can be made without difficulty.

Places They Occur

The most serious and frequent sprains occur in the ankle, elbow, knee and sacro-iliac joint. This last is the joint formed by the junction of the lower section of the spine and the hip bone.

Sprains of this joint are extremely painful and disabling and are very difficult to treat. The muscles of the back are rigid, the skin very sensitive and any movement or pressure is likely to cause extreme pain. The muscles of the back may be sprained from lifting heavy objects or by a twist of the spine.

A sprain of a joint may be a very serious matter. If the joint ligaments are badly torn or there is much bleeding into the joint, stiffness may result. It is a very fertile ground for the growth of tubercle bacilli.

The treatment of sprains depends on the extent of injury, the joint involved, the swelling, and the age of the patient. With a young person, the plunging of the injured part into cold water or gentle rubbing with snow or ice gives much relief.

In an older person this may be harmful and cause gangrene of the skin by stopping the circulation to the surface. Towels wrung out at hot water and wrapped snugly about the joint are very soothing. The part should be elevated so that too much blood may not stagnate, if it is seen before the swelling becomes too great.

Short Cuts

Many homemakers prefer the sharp point of a knife for removing pin feathers from chicken wings. But to prevent the breaking of the skin it is much safer to use a pair of scissors.

Stop water leaks and you stop water waste. A leak in a stream the size of a common pin from a faucet makes about 150 gallons a day, according to engineers of the United States Department of Agriculture. Also, a minor leak of only one drop a second, it has been estimated, makes about four gallons a day.

Younger Girls' Cosmetic Rule Is Discretion

Guide to Charm

By JACQUELINE HUNT

YOUTH is so lovely, fresh, and romantic-looking there should be no need for make-up. Yet, since all modern young girls do use cosmetics, my job is not to advise against it, but to tell you how to use those fascinating little pots of rouge and eye-shadow and boxes of fluffy, fragrant powder to best advantage.

Do not try to use make-up like the sophisticated woman you so much admire. Your skin isn't the same. Your contours are finer; your skin is fresher, and has about it the lovely, clear, natural color of youth. Do not spoil it. Too much rouge or powder or the wrong shades of either will make you look artificial and hard.

Naturalness is the keynote of make-up, even for the older woman and you should make a special effort to be natural. Since the young skin is usually moist and soft there should be no need for a foundation. Just sponge your face with a mild skin tonic or cold water and while it is still damp apply a small amount of cream rouge rather than light color.

Rouge with a slightly orange-tinted cast is best for girls with a warm blonde, brunette or Indian complexion. The very fair-skinned blonde with gold or platinum hair should choose a soft rose that gives a delicate flush and brightens the eyes without giving a made-up look.

If your skin is extremely dry use just the lightest film of cream purpose cream, or use one of the nice creams you apply and rinse away. It leaves the skin velvety and moist enough to keep the powder in place for hours. For extremely oily skin use plain witch hazel, a tiny bit of vanishing cream, or a small amount of hand lotion for a foundation.

Get a powder that matches your skin as nearly as possible even if you have to blend two shades. There are so many powder shades, ranging from the palest ivory or peach to a warm kypsy tan, that you should have no difficulty finding one right for your skin. Experiment with tiny sample boxes or packages of powder first until you find the right shade.

Always apply powder with a clean puff or a fluffy piece of cotton you can throw away after using. Soiled powder puffs are one of the commonest causes for blackheads and pimples. Apply a lot of powder by patting over your neck, face and forehead, and then take a soft-bristled brush or a clean piece of cotton and remove all of the excess. Only what belongs on your skin will remain there.

Next take a small stiff brush and remove every bit of powder from your eyebrows and lashes and use a bit of brilliantine or the new eyelash and eyebrow grower to oil and keep them in place. The eyelash grower will darken your lashes satisfactorily, too, since the cream is dark in color.

Tomorrow we shall discuss eye make-up and lipstick.

MISS HUNT

Profiles For Today

Miss Webber Has Unusual Job

By TALBOT LAKE

HUNDREDS—may thousands—of young men and women dash their heads every year on the implacable wall to fame and Hollywood; yet always a few are called. Not only do the studios deny opportunity to no one, but they are actually on the outlook for talent. This is one of the incongruities of the business.

Obviously, the studios can not make use of every fluffy-haired doll or hair-slicked male who applies, but they do require fresh blood. How do they get it? Of course, there are a number of young players coming up from the ranks, and some seep in already established on the stage. But there is yet another source—the talent scouts.

One of the best of these important people is Mildred Webber, who operates from New York City. Miss Webber was once a stage ringer, so she knows the feelings that seep through the hearts of the key-players. She worked in a theatrical booking office, and the atmosphere fascinated her. She was willing and did—work overtime and Sundays.

She soon learned how to handle people and how to size them up. She knew the chronic winners, braggarts (of which there were too many), and those who possessed real talent. Three years ago opportunity came to put knowledge to use by scouting for a large film concern. She made full use of the opportunity and today is in the fore rank of her profession.

Miss Webber, who is twenty-eight and good looking, lives what she calls a "glorious life." She goes to all the shows and night clubs in a never-ending search for talent. However, after you've done one thing long enough—even enjoying night life—you are prone to take it all in stride. So with Miss Webber.

Seeing a play to her work, for she has not only a whole lot of talent, but she has the work of some actor and let the story go hang, meanwhile weighing his possible value against his cost to the studio.

DAYTIME ENSEMBLE

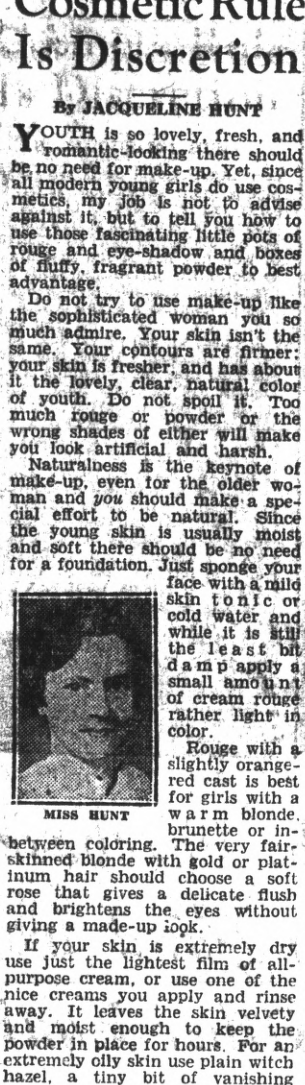

The daytime ensemble combines French, sheer, in color, for the dress and imported black broadcloth for the coat with silver fox drop collar and tuxedo front. The bodice of the dress is cut on the bias, with collar held by an oxidized metal clip, and the skirt is also bias cut with center front seam. The belt is of crushed black suede.

A leak in a stream the size of a common pin from a faucet makes about 150 gallons a day, according to engineers of the United States Department of Agriculture. Also, a minor leak of only one drop a second, it has been estimated, makes about four gallons a day.

Many Waistline Changes Revealed by Paris Stylists

By IRENE VAH

New York—Prompt indications of American buyers' reactions to fashions in the Paris spring openings came from reports by the advance guard arriving from Europe. These arrivals saw the major contour changes of a gradual change in development. Molyneux's adjustable dresses are specified to indicate how the line may be individually adjusted, worn at top of hips, as the mannequins did in the show. Chanel's raised front and draped back line is another wearable version.

Of Schiaparelli, responsible for the higher line described as Empire in suggestion, the point is made that this forecasts a development for fall, especially since the higher line appears to best advantage in woollens or in satins. The higher waistline achieved through yoke details or emphasized bust lines is remarked with strong immediate approval for coats, and it is said that this contouring gave chief expression to the idea in the jackets and wraps which accompanied day and evening dresses, rather than in the dresses themselves.

For the very important suits, jackets in short, boxy lines and a new version of the bolero are commended. The Molyneux bolero, longer at back and considered more graceful than the abbreviated familiar types, is approvingly described. Sleeves in coats as well as in dresses are definitely committed to shoulder elaboration through pleats, tucks or gathers, reports agree. "Even Molyneux showed wide-shoulder sleeves," is the comment, as if to say "that's settled."

QUESTION: "When a young man and woman meet for the first time whose place is it to suggest another meeting?" —D. B.

ANSWER: Either the girl may say, "Mother and I will be at home Tuesday evening. Would you like to drop in for a visit?" Or the suggestion may come from the man, "I'd like to see you again. When may I stop by?"

QUESTION: "Is a girl supposed to excuse herself when she steps on her partner's foot during a dance?" —C. H.

ANSWER: The girl should say "I'm sorry." A polite young man usually assumes responsibility for being awkward at such a time. And when he says, "It was my fault; I'm sorry," a girl who will insist on arguing that it was her fault, is behaving foolishly. She should let it pass.

QUESTION: "Who receives the guests at a coming-out party?" —Vilma F.

ANSWER: The debutante stands beside her mother. Her mother greets the guests as they arrive, and then her daughter.

QUESTION: "Is it necessary for a late-comer to dinner to apologize to all the guests?" —Harry L.

ANSWER: No. He apologizes to the hostess and to his dinner partner. After this, he forgets the matter and does not refer to it again.

QUESTION: "When one does not catch the name of the person to whom he is being introduced, may he ask to 'use it repeated'?" —S. A.

ANSWER: Certainly. He should say, "Will you repeat the name I did not hear it?"

QUESTION: "I am thirty and not overcast for my size. However, I am terribly clumsy on my feet and walk as though I weigh more. How can I make myself more graceful?" —A Reader.

Perhaps your weight is not properly distributed. Too heavy hips or thighs might make you walk ungracefully, even though your weight is right according to the height-weight tables. Make a serious effort to keep your body well-poised, your chest high, your shoulders wide and comfortably back, and your stomach in, so there is no inward curve at the waist. Walk with the legs together, the knees together, and the toes pointing straight ahead. The legs should swing from the hips, easily and rhythmically. Exercises taken at a well-balanced gymnasium, swimming, boxing, horseback riding and hiking will redistribute your "fat" and make you more graceful.

Dishes for Today

Dried Fruits Adaptable In Many Dishes

By JUDITH WILSON

DRIED fruits have belonged in the Cinderella class much too long! It takes only a little imagination to convert dried apricots, pears, peaches, prunes and apples into dishes lovely to look at and delightful to eat.

Souffles from dried apples or apricots are as festive as they sound. Properly spiced and flavored prunes make tartlets, pies and other desserts that know no peer. Stuff them with sausage and bake them, then you have an appetizer or meat.

Prunes or apricots stuffed with a cream cheese mixture can be made into a salad in no time at all and will extend and add interest to a simple meal.

Milk

Add any dried fruit to the stuffing the next time you prepare it for meat or fowl and see how much more interesting it is.

Cut 1½ cups prunes, apricots or peaches that have been steamed until barely tender into small pieces. Mix thoroughly with 1 cup finely chopped celery, ½ cup chopped green pepper, 1 small onion, chopped fine, salt, pepper and 1½ cups bread crumbs. Add about 3 tablespoons melted butter or other fat. Cut 2 pounds thin-sliced real steak into 4 inch squares. Season with salt and pepper and place some of the dressing on each square. Roll up and pin together with toothpicks. Brown on all sides in hot fat, then pour 3 cups boiling water and cook slowly for 1 hour or until the meat is very tender. Make a gravy from the sauce remaining in the pan.

Cream 2 tablespoons shortening and blend in ½ cup sugar and 1 beaten egg. Sift together 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda and ¼ teaspoon salt and mix with 1 cup bran. Add to the first mixture 1 cup raisins, 1 cup currants, 1 cup prunes, 1 cup buttermilk and ½ cup prune juice. Stir in ½ cup each chopped peanuts and dried prunes pitted and chopped. Pour into greased muffin tins and bake in a moderately hot oven about 20 minutes. This makes 1 dozen muffins.

Prune Sandwiches
Remove the pits from 2 cups cooked prunes and mash into a pulp. Add ½ teaspoon Worcester sauce and a few drops tabasco sauce and blend. Spread 6 slices of bread with softened butter and then with the prune mixture. Lay a thin slice of cheese on top of each slice of bread and then cover with a second slice of buttered bread. Trim off crusts and cut the sandwiches from corner to corner, forming triangles. Beat 3 eggs, add 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon melted shortening. Dip the sandwiches into this mixture and fry until golden brown on a hot waffle iron. Press the upper part of the waffle iron slightly when closing.

Date-Cream Pudding
Cook 3 cups milk and 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca in the top of a double boiler for 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add ½ cup sugar and 10 graham crackers that have been crumbled and cook 5 minutes longer. Cool the mixture slightly and stir in 1 cup dates, finely chopped, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg well beaten and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into a greased pudding mold and bake in a slow oven about 40 minutes. Serve topped with flavored whipped cream.

Apricot Mold
Cook 1 cup dried apricots and press through a sieve. Soften 2 teaspoons gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add to the apricot puree with ½ cup cream whipped until stiff, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ cup mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons orange juice. Mix thoroughly, pour into a mold and chill or freeze.

MODERN WOMEN

Very Often the Wife Makes a Better Family Treasurer Than the Husband

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

THE family treasurer—who should it be? In some families the treasurer is the husband, but in most it is the wife. There must be a reason for this. It is either that the husband cannot be bothered with the job or that he knows that his wife is much better fitted than he. One or the other obviously has to be responsible for the payment of current bills. It's possible the trusteeship may have passed from one to the other. One plan may not work at all, while another may go like a charm. Couples must work out the details themselves, but one thing is certain, there must be some sort of system, or plan mutually agreeable, irrespective of who administers it.

Showing-off Bound to Bring Child Trouble

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

FIVE-YEAR-OLD Judith's parents are in the habit of showing her off whenever they have visitors. The other day they arrived at an old friend's.

Uncle Charlie, a bachelor, and like many a young man who are fond of children he knows very little about them. Taking his cue from the little girl's parents, therefore, he soon fell into swinging with them and helped prod the little girl into performing.

Egged on, the child recited, danced and sang, at first shyly and with a bit of hesitancy. But as the afternoon progressed, her nerve mounted. She began acting silly, bold, and her parents were beginning to be annoyed with her. "That will be enough, Judith," they suggested. But Judith did not heed the warning. By now she had worked herself up to a pitch of creative frenzy. She simply had to go on expressing herself.

As for Uncle Charlie, he too, it seemed, could not stop now that he had caught on to playing up to the child and laughing with her over her pranks, long after the parents had ceased to think her actions amusing.

Mother and dad exchanged significant looks. If they only could stop Uncle Charlie, the rest would be easy. Once dad tried. He said, "Charlie, I think Judy's becoming a bit wild. Perhaps we'd better leave her alone for a while." "She seems to be having such a good time," Uncle Charlie pleaded. "And I don't see her often."

In the end, Judy got completely out of hand. She slapped Uncle Charlie's face from sheer overstimulation. Incensed, dad dragged her off to the kitchen where she was spanked unmercifully, as by now dad was in a blind rage. Later he regretted hitting Judy so hard and tried to make it up to her by kindness. In his heart he blamed Uncle Charlie. But the outcome was inevitable. Children are more comfortable when kept in their place. They are bound to get out of hand, when too much attention is focused on them.

1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into a greased pudding mold and bake in a slow oven about 40 minutes. Serve topped with flavored whipped cream.

There is definitely something wrong and it is imperative you discover what it is in order to rectify it. I think it isn't just something, but somebody, and I think that somebody is you.

Your salary should be ample for a couple to live on, but you must certainly have a plan. Call it that, rather than a budget, since you seem to have some sort of prejudice against that word.

My guess is your pocket is not in place in which to keep the family funds. You should bank your money or make some sort of distribution of it, instead of paying this and that, and just making the grade somehow. I suppose you know there are all sorts of insurances against rainy days, systems by which one saves money in spite of themselves. There is a certain type of person who simply cannot ever seem to take themselves by the hand and walk into a bank to make a deposit. I don't say it is an easy thing to do, in fact I admit it is so hard for most of us that some sort of pressure is necessary to get any of us going. You simply must manage to save something, no matter how little, each week.

Give Her a Try

Had you thought of giving your wife a try at handling the funds? Women are sometimes better treasurers than men. Not always, of course. Sometimes they just can't be trusted at all, but you seem to give your wife credit for handling her share of the family fortunes sensibly. Why not work out such a distribution of money or make her responsible for the out and living expenses, including her charge account, and see how it works. You have had a try since July. A bit better than six months. Give her a six month trial handling the purse strings and see how it comes out. She will be on her mettle, and I am sure you can trust her to play fair. If she shows herself out of her depth you will know it before anything else is too late. But unless she makes some glaring error of judgment give her that, long and see whether she doesn't surprise you by having a little nest egg at the end of that time.

I am not selling any sort of insurance or advocating any particular saving plan, but I am selling you the idea you should investigate the various compulsory saving plans there are. Select one that seems to have been made to take care of your particular case, after which sign on the dotted line and live up to your agreement. Don't be too ambitious and figure how you can save more than you actually can.

Hitler Prepares Voice Of The People

CAMPAIGNING FOR the "Ja" vote in the recent Reichstag election that would endorse his Rhineland move, here is Chancellor Hitler of Germany, at the end of the center aisle, speaking to 30,000 persons packed into Deutschland Hall, Berlin. DUO FACING SENTENCES FOR BRIBES

OAKLAND, April 8.—A jury of nine women and three men in Superior Judge Frank M. Ogden's court today returned a verdict of guilty against two Oakland police officers on charges of extortion and attempted bribery.

The two officers are Peter J. Connelly and Harris P. Brannan, who have been on trial for more than a month.

The jury deliberated three hours before returning the verdict.

EXTORTION CHARGE
The pair were charged with extorting funds from Charles Brinkley, cookie plant night watchman, to insure his immunity from prosecution on asserted charges of a 13-year old girl.

The two officers will be sentenced Monday. They face terms of one to ten years for extortion and one to fourteen years for attempted bribery.

MONEY EXCHANGED
At the trial, Brinkley testified he gave the officers $36, $16 of it last December 23, and a marked $20 bill last December 24. The marked bill was found under the seat of the radio cruising car occupied by Connelly after the asserted "pay-off."

Both officers pleaded not guilty to the charges, following their indictment by the Oakland grand jury.

DENIAL IS MADE
At the trial, both denied they had seen Brinkley on December 23, when the first bribe assertedly was accepted.

On December 21, according to testimony, the officers fell into a trap prepared for them by Chief of Police Bodie Wallman and members of the District Attorney's office.

VETERAN OFFICERS
After the patrolmen had given Brinkley a ride in their car, search of the machine revealed the marked bill. The trap was laid after Brinkley appealed to his employers for aid. The policemen had told him they could "square" the charges for $200, he said, and had demanded $75 "within a week."

Connelly has been a member of the Oakland force since 1914. Brannan joined in 1923.

Solons Speed Tax Bill To Adjourn Early

The White House is strongly opposed to reported plans to "ear mark" the relief appropriation for designated projects.

Meantime, members of the Workers' Alliance, an organization said to be composed of WPA workers and others on relief, paraded around the White House and sang around being informed that President Roosevelt was not there to receive their petition demanding WPA be continued in its present form.

BILL IS NEW
At the close of two meetings of his group today, Chairman Robert L. Doughton, Demo.-rat, North Carolina, of the ways and means committee said the tax bill probably would be reported to the House next week. It will be followed by the relief measure.

In the absence of Republicans, who are united in opposition to the tax program, the ways and means committee tentatively agreed today to give special treatment to two classes of corporations which evidence in public hearings showed would be discriminated against in the revenue measure—corporations in debt and foreign-owned enterprises operating on American soil.

Release Of U. S. Prisoner Brings G-Men's Protest

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—UP.—Release of Ray Lagomarsino from Alcatraz after he served half of a 20-year term imposed for the stealing of three letters from a Colma postoffice, has been protested by the Federal Department of Justice, U. S. Attorney H. H. McPike said today.

McPike announced he had received a request from Attorney General Homer Cummings to appeal the release order given by Federal Judge Michael Roche.

Roche held that Lagomarsino had been sentenced three times for one offense. Cummings contends, McPike said, that the postal laws provide that each stolen letter constitutes a separate offense.

One Killed, 2 Injured When Planes Crash

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., April 8.—UP.—A flier tentatively identified as John Mendelo, 22, of Scarsdale, N. Y., was killed and two other aviators were injured, late today when two small planes collided in the air shortly after taking off.

The men injured were Walter Barlow, student flier, and Douglas Turnbull, Garden City, N. Y., transport pilot. Both were in critical condition.

Field attendants said the planes took off at the same time and flew parallel courses; at several hundred feet they veered toward each other and collided. Mendelo was alone. It was not known which of the two was piloting the plane carrying Barlow and Turnbull.

BOAT ANCHOR IS USED IN BAY SUICIDE

from a fishing trip. They saw the empty boat and decided to investigate.

Pinned to one of the seats of the boat was a note. It read:

"To Mrs. E. F. Langford, 1406 Fifty-fourth street, Oakland."

"I'm sorry to cause you this trouble. I'm a sick man. This is the easiest way out."

The note was not signed.

BODY IS RECOVERED

Upon reading the missive the boys rowed ashore and informed the attendant at the boat dock. The latter rushed to the police station and police Chief Jones and a group of officers went to the scene. The body was removed from the bottom of the bay by the simple process of pulling up the bow anchor to which the body was attached.

Deputy Coroner W. P. Drumrey was notified and the body was taken to the Wilson and Kratzer chapel.

According to information received by Drumrey, deceased was a native of England and had lived in Oakland for the past 19 years. He was a cabinet maker for an ice cream plant for 10 years, retiring in 1932.

He leaves his widow, Alice, and son William of Watsonville; a sister, Mrs. Langford, to whom the note was addressed and another sister, Mrs. Emily Ellsworth of Oakland. A brother, Sidney Fey, of Alameda, also survives. The brother last evening said the deceased had been ill and dependent of some time.

He was a member of the La Vista lodge, F. & A. M. of La Vista, Colo.

Lawyer's Wife Faces Charges Of Burglary

SEATTLE, April 8.—UP.—Police announced tonight Mrs. Dorothy P. Quine, 27, wife of John J. Quine, attorney for the State Tax Commission, had been arrested on a charge of three University district burglaries, and had confessed.

The young woman gave no explanation for her behavior, according to Detective Captain Wesley N. Miller. Her husband, shocked by her arrest, said "she had everything she wanted."

Mrs. Quine, police said, took clothing and other articles from three apartments to which she had obtained keys. The loot was returned.

No String On Warren Slate Of Delegates

neither one of these gentlemen attended any of the meetings nor did anyone speak for them."

Morse said Earl Warren, as State R. publican chairman, selected the committee after consulting a number of prominent Republicans, of which Mr. Hoover was not one, nor was Mr. Requa.

He explained the committee selected a slate of unpledged candidates, believing such a procedure would hold California Republicans together, and not split the delegation between a number of candidates.

Governor Frank P. Merriam, who now appears as sponsor of a rival slate pledged to Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, was invited to participate in the work of the committee but "declined to do so," Morse said.

VICTORY IS PREDICTED BY IL DUCE

ary forces in East Africa, reported in an official communique that all along the road to Dessye, Galla tribesmen, revolting against Ethiopian rule, are attacking the retreating imperial forces, inflicting heavy losses in the ranks of the remnants of the Emperor's vanquished army.

"In large sections of Gondar, Semien and Wolaita, numerous chiefs have submitted to our commanders," Badoglio announced. "Markets in all occupied territory have resumed normal activities."

Tress messages from Asmara forecast occupation of Dessye by Friday. Dessye long has been the Emperor's field headquarters. Units of three Italian army corps have started to advance southward in large numbers from Korem, where their supply base has been established.

EMPEROR IS FLEEING

ASMARA, Thursday, April 9.—UP.—Emperor Haile Selassie was reported fleeing south early today, his whiskers shaved off to disguise him from hostile tribesmen. Italian troops closed in on Dessye, the emperor's war headquarters and continued their march towards Addis Ababa.

An inhabitant of the village of Gobbo, north of Dessye reportedly told Italian commanders that the Lion of Judah, clearly shaven, fled through there several days ago, en route south after his Imperial guards were defeated in a terrific five-day battle near Lake Athangal last week.

43 Children Are Periled By Madman

with a .32 calibre and .25 calibre revolvers. Haynes ordered the children to flatten themselves on the floor of the machine, and tried to outdistance the pursuer.

Unable to do so, Haynes stopped his machine, and ran back to Smith's car. When he attempted to yank the ignition keys from the coupe Smith threatened to lash his throat. Haynes was forced to retreat to the bus, in which he made a final dash to the school yard, where Smith was captured.

Smith said he thought it was Sunday, that he felt children had no right to be going to school on Sunday, and for that reason tried to stop the bus.

Realtors Hear Advertising Talk

The value of advertising in general and the necessity of using local mediums was stressed in an entertaining talk made before the dinner meeting of the Contra Costa County Realtors Association at the Hotel Carquinez last evening by Morton J. A. McDonald, advertising manager of the Oakland Tribune.

The shortage of houses was also brought before his listeners with the assertion that in Oakland alone 12,000 houses were needed to meet the demand. He said that a survey indicated that the same situation existed in most of the towns of the State.

No time or place has yet been fixed for the next meeting of the association.

The meeting was largely attended, representatives being present from Martinez, Walnut Creek and Pittsburg. Local members in attendance were: Bruce Corrie, president; W. J. Richards, Mrs. W. H. Sanford, M. A. Hays, Mrs. Ruby Bryant, R. A. Vaughn, Miss Virginia C. Griffin, Mrs. Elsie H. MacMillan, Mrs. Florence Manies, Miss

Federal Camp In Valley Is Asked In Plea

BERKELEY, April 8.—UP.—Residents of Thornton district, near Lodi, today petitioned the Resettlement Administration here for establishment of a group of part-time farms for agricultural workers in that vicinity.

About 90 persons voluntarily signed the petitions, following disclosure that Thornton was one of the places in the Sacramento area under consideration for part-time farms.

Resettlement officials here said land options had been acquired near Thornton, but that no decision had been made to locate a group of farms there.

If the location finally is approved, about 150 acres will be used at Thornton, furnishing homes for approximately 25 families.
